Colonel Roosevelt's Attitude

According to the advance notices now appearing in the press of the country, Colonel Roosevelt, in an article, to appear soon in one of the magazines, entitled "Murder on the High Seas" assumes a characteristically radical position on the problem of how best to deal with the crisis forced upon the nation by the sinking of the Lusitania.

There is much force in the position taken by the ex-president denouncing the action of Germany as wholly unwarrant ed by any rule of civilized warfare and wholly unjustifiable on account of the existence of any necessity.

The majority of the American people will probably support Colonel Roosevelt in that position.

His recommendation for vigorous action and the assumption of a belligerent attitude by this government, however, Thursday and Friday. will be met with strong opposition.

His denunciation of the course of the national govern-iday, ment, which he characterizes as one of blood and water with the prediction that adherence to such a policy will place the United States on a plane with China, will scarcely meet with the approval of the great body of thinking American citizens.

The present position of the United States, one of sincere and impartial neutrality, is difficult to maintain but that it is the only proper position is admitted universally. The American people have not now, and never have had, any ambition that this nation should be famous as a great war power or that it should, by force of arms, undertake to dictate the conduct of other nations of the world. The American people have always fully realized that the effort to attain that distinction of no worth, was too uncertain and too costly.

If this nation can, in these times of distress, when the men of Europe have gone war-mad, demonstrate the real worth and the incomparable and multitudious blessings of peace and that the glories of peace are far brighter and more enduring than the trumphs of war, it will have established a place in the history of humanity far above that ever attained by any war

The mission of this nation at this time is to show the warmad world the way to peace and to turn, by example, the course of the war-torn nations from the paths of destruction and war, rather than to create in any nation a respect for our fighting power.

Colonel Roosevelt's position evidences too much a willingness to use the present crisis as an opportunity to appeal to the primitive instincts of men rather than to the higher feelings.

The Span of Life Growing Longer

As people grow older the span of life seems shorter. Hence it is not unusual to hear frequently the assertion that people don't live as long now days as they did thirty or forty years

The impression that those statements are true has become general. One explanation, of course, for the existence of that impression is that old men do not appear so old to a man as they do to a boy and our first impression of the extreme age of old persons created on the youthful mind are much more pronounced than the impressions obtained in later years. After all we should rely upon the statistics rather than upon uncertain impressions for the facts.

Statistics did prove that a few years ago the average human life did not cover quite so long a span of years as it once did, but later revised statistics show that the average span of human life is growing longer and that this generation will be able to furnish its percentage of "Old Timers" measuring up to that of half a century ago when men lived the simple life and were "hard as nails."

The insurance company officials have been, quite naturally, the first to note the increase in the length of the average life and their statistics have been the first indisputable evidence of the tendency to longer life.

There are a number of causes to which it is sought to at tribute the change, chief among which and, perhaps, the cor rect one, is the vast improvement made in caring for the infants and children of the poor in the congested districts.

Now days the infant gets a better start in the world than it did years ago. Better water, purer air (and more of it) a thoughtful and prosperous public sees that these are given the poorer people. Then too, sanitatary conditions have undergone revolutionary changes for the better. The sanitary and quarantine regulations have come to be scientifically and intelligently carried forward. Yellow fever, small pox, typhoid malaria and many of the other plagues of a few years back have been stamped out.

The work of providing for the public health, convenience ommended as the world's best corn and welfare is now furnishing the evidence of its practical cure by Brown's Drug Store, and as the place for holding the next great council meeting in 1916. worth as well as its justification on principles of humanity.

editor of the Independent, suggested that it would be his idea of statesmanship and good morality if the presi dent calls a conference of the neutral nations of the world at the same time he sends a note to Germany dealing with the sinking of the Lusitania and the loss of so many American lives.

"The sinking of the Lusitania," said Mr. Holt, "is of course militarism at its worst. The time has come when the United States has got to stop this thing or it has got to acquiesce. Probably we will not acquiesce. shall we do to stop this thing, without recourse to militarism itself? Let us see if we can not arrive at the same result by another method. Let the president do two things simultaneous-When he sends a note to Germany asking for reparation and for pledges that there shall be no recur rence, let him call a conference of the neutral nations, of which there are about thirty-five. Leakless Inner Tubes

Goodyear Laminated Tubes Built Layer on Layer-Extra Thick

Here is something every motorist should know.

Goodyear Laminated Tubes are built of many thin layerseach of pure rubber-vulcanized together. No flaw can be hidden as in a thick piece of rubber. It is seen and eliminated. Every layer is perfect.

Such a Tube can't leak. And our valve patch can't leak, because it is part of the Tube and not stuck on.

Remember that. Many a tire trouble is due to leaky Tubes.

14% Heavier

Goodyear Laminated Tubes are extra heavy. They have always outworn any tire. But this year we have added 14 per cent to their average thickness-all pure rubber And our

Tube prices this year are reduced 20 per cent. So these layer Tubes, extra-thick. now cost about the same as others.

Always Gray

Goodyear Laminated Tubes are not colored. They are gray —the natural pure rubber color. Color requires a large percentage of mineral adulteration. And minerals hold heat, a Tube's worst enemy.

Whatever tires you use, get Goodyear Tubes. They will outlast your tires, save you leaks and trouble. They will also convert you to Goodyear Fortified Tires, built by the same high standards.

Leakless Inner Tubes

Goodyear Laminated Tubes Built Layer on Layer-Extra Thick

Here is something every motorist should know.

Goodyear Laminated Tubes are built of many thin layerseach of pure rubber-vulcanized together. No flaw can be hidden as in a thick piece of rubber. It is seen and eliminated. Every layer is perfect.

Such a Tube can't leak. And our valve patch can't leak, because it is part of the Tube and not stuck on.

Remember that. Many a tire trouble is due to leaky Tubes.

14% Heavier

Goodyear Laminated Tubes are extra heavy. They have always outworn any tire. But this year we have added 14 per cent to their average thickness-all pure rubber And our

Always Gray

Colonel Roosevelt's Attitude

According to the advance notices now appearing in the press of the country, Colonel Roosevelt, in an article, to appear soon in one of the magazines, entitled "Murder on the High Seas" assumes a characteristically radical position on the problem of how best to deal with the crisis forced upon the nation by the sinking of the Lusitania.

There is much force in the position taken by the ex-president denouncing the action of Germany as wholly unwarrant ed by any rule of civilized warfare and wholly unjustifiable on account of the existence of any necessity.

The majority of the American people will probably support Colonel Roosevelt in that position.

His recommendation for vigorous action and the assumption of a belligerent attitude by this government, however, will be met with strong opposition.

His denunciation of the course of the national govern-lday. ment, which he characterizes as one of blood and water with the prediction that adherence to such a policy will place the United States on a plane with China, will scarcely meet with the approval of the great body of thinking American citizens.

The present position of the United States, one of sincere and impartial neutrality, is difficult to maintain but that it is the only proper position is admitted universally. The American people have not now, and never have had, any ambition that this nation should be famous as a great war power or that it should, by force of arms, undertake to dictate the conduct of other nations of the world. The American people have always fully realized that the effort to attain that distinction of no worth, was too uncertain and too costly.

If this nation can, in these times of distress, when the men of Europe have gone war-mad, demonstrate the real worth and the incomparable and multitudious blessings of peace and that the glories of peace are far brighter and more enduring than the trumphs of war, it will have established a place in the history of humanity far above that ever attained by any war MAN ARRESTED

The mission of this nation at this time is to show the war mad world the way to peace and to turn, by example, the course of the war-torn nations from the paths of destruction and war, rather than to create in any nation a respect for our fighting power.

Colonel Roosevelt's position evidences too much a willingness to use the present crisis as an opportunity to appeal to the primitive instincts of men rather than to the higher

The Span of Life Growing Longer

As people grow older the span of life seems shorter. Hence it is not unusual to hear frequently the assertion that people don't live as long now days as they did thirty or forty years

The impression that those statements are true has become general. One explanation, of course, for the existence of that impression is that old men do not appear so old to a man as they do to a boy and our first impression of the extreme age of old persons created on the youthful mind are much more pronounced than the impressions obtained in later years. After all we should rely upon the statistics rather than upon uncer tain impressions for the facts.

Statistics did prove that a few years ago the average human life did not cover quite so long a span of years as it once did, but later revised statistics show that the average span of human life is growing longer and that this generation will be able to furnish its percentage of "Old Timers" measuring up to that of half a century ago when men lived the simple life and were "hard as nails."

The insurance company officials have been, quite naturally, the first to note the increase in the length of the average life and their statistics have been the first indisputable evidence of the tendency to longer life.

There are a number of causes to which it is sought to attribute the change, chief among which and, perhaps, the correct one, is the vast improvement made in caring for the infants and children of the poor in the congested districts.

Now days the infant gets a better start in the world than it did years ago. Better water, purer air (and more of it) a thoughtful and prosperous public sees that these are given the poorer people. Then too, sanitatary conditions have undergone revolutionary changes for the better. The sanitary and quarantine regulations have come to be scientifically and intelligently carried forward. Yellow fever, small pox, typhoid malaria and many of the other plagues of a few years back have been stamped out.

The work of providing for the public health, convenience ommended as the world's best corn and welfare is now furnishing the evidence of its practical cure by Brown's Drug Store, and worth as well as its justification on principles of humanity.

"The sinking of the Lusitania," said Mr. Holt, "is of course militarism at The time has come when the United States has got to stop this thing or it has got to acquiesce. Prob ably we will not acquiesce. What shall we do to stop this thing, without recourse to militarism itself? Let us see if we can not arrive at the same result by another method. Leakless Inner Tubes

Here is something every motorist should know.

Goodyear Laminated Tubes are built of many thin layerseach of pure rubber-vulcanized together. No flaw can be hidden as in a thick piece of rubber. It is seen and eliminated. Every layer is perfect. Such a Tube can't leak. And our valve patch can't leak, because it is part of the Tube and not stuck on.

Remember that. Many a tire trouble is due to leaky Tubes.

14% Heavier

Goodyear Laminated Tubes are extra heavy. They have always outworn any tire. But this year we have added 14 per cent to their average thickness-all pure rubber And our

Tube prices this year are reduced 20 per cent. So these layer Tubes, extra-thick. now cost about the same as

Always Gray

Goodyear Laminated Tubes are not colored. They are gray the natural pure rubber color. Color requires a large percentage of mineral adulteration. And minerals hold heat, a Tube's worst enemy.
